Our Proud History

The Schiller family acquired the Hi-Lite Burger Bar in the early 80s, and in 1986 it became Rocko's Diner. No longer west of Mission but practically downtown, Rocko's is still proudly serving diner fare, over 50 years after the opening of the Hi-Lite Burger Bar. The first drive-in, and Mission City's first 24 hour restaurant, Rocko's continues to serve the City of Mission and travellers with home-style food and hospitality.

Since 1956

Fraser Valley Record

Mission City, BC

Wednesday, July 11, 1956

Under ownership of "Nick" Nicholson, well known restaurateur of Mission, Mission's first highway drive-in has opened on the Lougheed Highway west of Mission.

The "Hi-Lite Burger Bar" serves just about every tasty food drive-in fans could imagine, including chicken, foot long dogs, burgers, soft ice cream and milkshakes.
